DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

1. Figures 1-7,
2. Figures 8-13,
3. Figures 14-15A,
4. Figure 16,
5. Figure 17,
6. Figures 18-18B, and
7. Figure 19.

The species are independent or distinct because each has patentably distinct features that are independent from the other species.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are considered generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

During a telephone conversation with Sanjiv Chokshi on 4/7/06 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of group 3, claims 1-12, 14-15 and 20. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 13 and 16-19 withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-9, 11-12, 14-15 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cole et al (USPN 6,019,743). Cole discloses a barrel member (14) sized and shaped to receive a solid medicated product, a bore, an opening, a plunger member (16) and at least one substantially flexible section (22). See figure 3. The barrel member including the areas with the flexible sections and the petals (24) are made from flexible material such as thermoplastic elastomers. See 3:58+. The barrel has a plurality of petals (24) that are considered to be truncated since the distal end of the device is not completely closed. During the dispensing process the tips of the petals will engage a substantially central portion of a product with a large portion of the product extending outward beyond the petals. A smaller product would only engage the petals at the tips. The barrel has at least one substantially rigid portion between all the flexible portions. See figure 3. The plunger may also be flexible. See 2:33-36.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cole.

At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to incorporate any of the claimed thermoplastic elastomers into the invention of Cole. Applicant has not disclosed that these materials versus other thermoplastic elastomers solves a problem, is used for a particular purpose or provides an advantage. Furthermore, one would expect applicant's invention and the device of Cole to perform equally well being made from these elastomers or the elastomers of Cole since all the materials would provide a degree of flexibility to the devices.
